

GNH Services, Inc. Expands Account Executive Team to Fuel Growth, Enhance Service

Chesterfield, MO – February 3, 2010 – GNH Services, Inc. owner of retail specialty contractors Granger Contracting Company, Inc. and N-STORE Services, LLC, recently expanded their National Account Executive Team to fuel future growth and enhance customer services. The team, which comprises four experienced professionals with extensive expertise in sales, client support and retail construction, is responsible for identifying, building and enhancing client partnerships for both firms.

Executive Vice President and Co-Owner, Matt Levenson commented, "When the economy took its toll on retailers nationwide, we took a hard look at our business to determine where resources would be most needed and best allocated. With a firm commitment to retailers, we decided to forego the diversification efforts that many of our counterparts were pursuing and instead put our energy into building a team of business experts who would not only help us grow by indentifying and forging new retail client relationships, but also provide an additional level of service and resources to support our existing clients during these challenging times."

The team has been in place since late summer of 2009, playing the dual roles of "opportunity seeker" and "client advocate" and thus far, has been successful in achieving Levenson's objectives. He said, "Staying true to our core client, the retailer, is rewarding. Our focus has led to us opening 2010 not only with additional, unplanned work from current clients, but also with project awards from two new clients. Additionally, both companies are showing positive Q1 comps over 2009."
